NO ACTION TAKEN ON PLAYGROUND DIRECTOR APPOINTMENT

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Ah, 'tis spring, and the young man's (and young woman's) fancy lightly turns to thoughts of—

Wonder when I'm going to get that vacation.

I should have a new summer outfit. I can't wear the old one this year.

Wonder how I'll meet at the mountain camp this year who is interesting and romantic?

Wonder if I can get married on 20 bucks a week?

Well, two can starve just as cheaply as one.

There ought to be a law, compelling motorists to carry side lights on their cars.

At street intersections one can easily crash broadside into a car at night.

The most cautious man in the world was discovered in San Francisco recently.

Fed up on life, wondering "if it is all worth while," our hero decided to commit suicide.

Gas, so it seemed to him, would be the easiest way out.

So he locks himself in a room and turned on the gas.

Before he did it, however, he hung a sign upon the door which said: "Danger—gas filled room; light no matches."

A neighbor passed by, saw the sign, called the police and the would-be suicide was rescued.

The next time he'll probably use a gun.

Or make up with the girl friend.

Or forget whatever silliness that causes one to commit suicide.

Always remember: Things can't go on like this all the time.

Since this "crime wave" in Richmond, one cannot roam around the city at night without bumping into four or five policemen.

And, if anyone should ask you, tell them they're on the job.

What's in a name, poets ask.

To which we make reply: "We bite."

But, be that as it may, federal agents recently made a raid on a home on Bourbon street, San Francisco.

And when they left, they had considerable whiskey and a prisoner.

2 SCHOOLS WILL BE PAINTED

No action to fill the vacancy in the school department left by the death of W. L. Seawright was taken yesterday at the meeting of the Richmond elementary school board.

All applicants for the position will have been interviewed by Superintendent of Schools W. T. Helms by Friday, unless new applications are received in the meantime, Helms said.

Both Washington and Lincoln schools probably will be painted during the summer, it was indicated at the meeting, although no definite action was taken.

In accordance with the policy of expansion of grounds of Richmond's elementary schools, the board considered an offer to purchase two lots near the Woodrow Wilson school in Grand View Terrace. The lots are numbers eleven and twelve, and if purchased will be added to the grounds as a playground. The matter was put over for future consideration.

The board also discussed liability insurance with reference to children attending the public schools. An investigation of rates and other phases of the matter will be taken up soon by the board, it was announced.

Other routine business, as the passing of salary bills, was also taken up at the meeting, over which W. T. Helms, superintendent, presided.

MAN ESCAPES IN CAVE-IN

Buried beneath seven or eight feet of earth at the Richmond Pressed Brick company, John Marsi, 914 Seventh street, yesterday experienced that horrible feeling of being buried alive.

When released however, he seemed none the worse for his experiences, but was taken to the Abbott Emergency hospital for examination.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—UP—Sharp words shot across the foreign relations committee table today as Senator Johnson, Rep., Calif., reproved Senator Reed, Rep., Pa., for a rapid fire attack on Rear Admiral J. V. Chase designed to show that officer was ignorant of technical matters relating to cruisers.

Reed and Senator Robinson, Dem., Ark., both delegates to the London conference, subjected Admiral Chase to an unprecedentedly vigorous examination during which the bulky officer remained imperturbably polite.

Chase, like every other officer who has testified except Admiral William V. Pratt, opposed the treaty's cruiser provisions and said the increased Japanese naval ration was dangerous to the United States.

Hits Ratio

"There was no 5-3 ratio with Japan to maintain," at London," Reed said. "They had twice as many cruisers as we when the conference opened."

Chase insisted that the increased ratio was dangerous.

"We must be in grave peril at this moment," Reed continued, "if the 5-3 ratio is essential."

"I wouldn't put it that way," Chase replied.

"Are you a graduate of the Naval War College?" Reed asked.

JUDGE ENGS REPORTED TO BE SEEN IN THIS COUNTY

With Contra Costa again the principal scene of search, the man hunt for Judge Edward W. Engs, mysteriously missing for five days from his Oakland home, continued last night.

Scores of clues have been brought to the attention of police, only to be run down and found to be false alarms.

M. B. Del Prado, Sacramento jeweler, told authorities he has twice seen the missing jurist. Engs accosted him on the highway near Antioch, D. Prado said, and on the following day, the same man was on Jersey Island, near Antioch. The jeweler said he was almost positive of the identification.

Search In Hills

In the meanwhile new vigor was thrown into the search of the Berkeley hills following three separate reports that Engs had been seen near the Bowles reservoir.

Yuvas creek, near Morgan hill in Santa Clara county, is another of the central points of the search. Sheriff George W. Lyle of Santa Clara county has sent a posse of men into the wooded sections of the district, hunting for some trace of the judge.

Engs lived in this vicinity as a boy, and on the advice of family physicians, who are of the opinion that the jurist is suffering from amnesia, the search has been started here.

Seen In San Jose

Several reports that Engs has been seen here have substantiated this theory. Among these are Mrs. A. W. Walton of San Jose, who told police a man answering to the missing man's description had asked for food at her door.

Other squads are continuing the search in Shenherd's canyon, Pinehurst and Redwood canyon. Bloodhounds are being used in the search in this section.

Telegrams have been sent to a brother of the judge, S. M. Engs, in Johnson, Nebraska on the chance that he may have travelled there while in a state of delirium.

Engs disappeared from his home early Friday morning, just before he was to sentence a group of alleged racketeers and officials on charges of graft.

The judge was reported to be ill on the morning of his disappearance.

YACHT BASE NEED OF CITY

A yacht harbor, to be built at a cost of more than $15,000 is in prospect for Richmond, following announcement made yesterday by Harry Wernse.

The harbor will be located on the Richmond Investment company's property, which is on the inner harbor, and will be parallel to Cutting boulevard.

The San Francisco Bridge company will start the construction work within a few days, Wernse announced yesterday.

The harbor will be equipped with more than 60 slips to accommodate yachts. There will be machine ways where the small craft may be drydocked for repairs or hull-scraping, a machine shop and an oil and gas service station.

There is a possibility that there will be a clubhouse.

The equipment of the harbor will be laid out parallel with Cutting boulevard, and will be set in 124 feet from the bay. The harbor will take the place of the old Green's Boathouse, Wernse said.

The harbor is to be dredged to a sufficient depth, and in the center of the harbor will be a turning basin.

City Engineer E. A. Hoffman will supervise the dredging. The plans and specifications for the work are now in his hands.

Construction of a yacht harbor here will fulfill the dreams of the Richmond sporting men, who have long realized that there is a big need for a yacht harbor in Richmond.

Wernse expressed confidence yesterday that the harbor will meet with instant success.

Cards Lead League By Win Over Cubs With 16-3 Score

ST. LOUIS, May 20.—UP—Wee Willie Shore's masterful pitching and the Cardinals hard hitting gave them a 16 to 3 victory over the Cubs here today, and sent the Red Birds into second place a full game ahead of the Giants and but half a game behind the league leading Robins.

Sherdel held the Chicagoans to one run, Hack Wilson's twelfth homer of the season, in the second inning, until the eighth when a walk and hits by English and Hornsby gave the Cubs two more runs. It was the first game in which Hornsby started in two weeks.

The Cards started their scoring campaign in the third inning with five runs aided by four passes. Malone was relieved by Guy Bush. In the seventh the Cards found Bush for four hits which with Hack Wilson's and Hornsby's boots gave them four more tallies.

After the Cubs scored two runs in the eighth the Cards came back in their half to score four more when Gelbert poled a home run into leftie's bleachers with the bases full.

Brooklyn Leads League By Win Over Phillies

By UNITED PRESS

National League

Brooklyn maintained its place at the top of the National league Tuesday by a 16 to 9 victory over the last place Phillies. Babe Herman, Brooklyn outfielder, made five hits, including a home run, and drove in six runs.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved into second place half a game behind Brooklyn by overhauling the Chicago Cubs, 16 to 3. Hack Wilson, hit his twelfth home run of the season off Sherdel. Charley Gelbert, Cardinals' shortstop, hit a homer with the bases filled.

Pittsburgh moved into third place by blanking Cincinnati, 5 to 0. Larry French pitching a four hit game for the Pirates. Gush Suhr, Pirates' rookie first baseman, accepted 17 chances without an error.

The New York Giants dropped from second to fourth place when they lost a 10-inning game to the Boston Braves, 4 to 3. George Sisler's single in the tenth drove in two runs. Wally Berger, Braves' young outfielder hit his ninth home run of the season.

American League

With the two league leaders, Washington and Philadelphia, idle, Cleveland won a double header from the Chicago White Sox Tuesday, 7-3, 7-5 and moved within 2 1-2 games of the leading Senators. The White Sox used eight pitchers in a vain attempt to stop the Indians' attack, four in each game.

Tony Lazzeri's single and Gehrig's double in the tenth inning drove in three runs and the New York Yankees won from the Boston Red Sox, 7-3.

The St. Louis Browns deserted the cellar by defeating Detroit, 8-2 and sending the Tigers back into last place.

Today's progress in the doubles was slowed up by rain, throwing the schedule almost a day behind. Mrs. Moody and Elizabeth Ryan won their doubles engagement by default from Mme. de Oorschell and Mlle. de Langourain.

Helen Jacobs and Mlle. Sigart, No. 1 Belgian player, defeated J. Galloway and V. Galloway, 6-3, 3-6 and 6-0.

In the men's doubles, Harada and Abe of Japan, Prena and Klemens of Germany, Moon and Crawford of Australia, and Hopman and Willard of Australia, won their matches easily.

BILL TILDEN TO MEET COCHET FRIDAY

AUTEL, France, May 20.—UP—William T. Tilden, of Philadelphia, American champion, and Henri Cochet of France, generally recognized as the world's best singles player, were placed in opposite ends of the draw for the French hard court singles championship today. Play in the singles will start Friday.

In the women's singles, Helen Willis Moody, holder of American, French and English titles, and Mrs. Pernley-Whittingstall, of England, the former Eileen Bennett, were placed in opposite divisions.

The seeded players in the men's singles include Cochet, Tilden, Baron H. L. DeMorguio, of Italy, E. F. Moon, of Australia, Jack Crawford of Australia; G. Lytle, of Rogers of Ireland; Takechi Harada of Japan; H. G. N. Lee of England; Dr. Daniel Prena of Germany; Wilbur F. Coen Jr., of Kansas City; Yoshiro Ohta of Japan; F. Matejka, of Austria; Otto Brugnion of France and E. Duplaix of France.

Tilden vs. Borota

Tilden and Borota are picked to meet in the upper half semifinals and Cochet and Moon, Abe or DeMorguio are picked to meet in the lower half brackets. Cochet is considered a certain finalist.

Mrs. Moody will meet Mrs. Holcroft Matson of England in the third round of the women's singles, and probably Elizabeth Ryan or Cicly Aussem of Germany in the fifth round.

Helen Jacobs, of Berkeley, California, is placed in the lower half of the women's draw, with Mrs. Whittingstall, Senorita Lili de Alvarez, and France's ranking player, Madame Mathien.

Rain Falls

Today's progress in the doubles was slowed up by rain, throwing the schedule almost a day behind. Mrs. Moody and Elizabeth Ryan won their doubles engagement by default from Mme. de Oorschell and Mlle. de Langourain.

Helen Jacobs and Mlle. Sigart, No. 1 Belgian player, defeated J. Galloway and V. Galloway, 6-3, 3-6 and 6-0.

In the men's doubles, Harada and Abe of Japan, Prena and Klemens of Germany, Moon and Crawford of Australia, and Hopman and Willard of Australia, won their matches easily.

STOCKS STAGE RECOVERY ON MART

NEW YORK, May 20.—UP—Stocks dropped sharply in the first 4 1-2 hours of trading on the stock exchange today and in the last 30 minutes staged a recovery that brought the industrial average up more than a point and sent the majority of issues above the previous close.

In earlier trading losses ranged from 1 to 4 points generally and up to 8 points or more in the higher priced special issues.

Dealings were mostly professional, although sales increased in volume.

Bankers came to the aid of United Steel after it had touched a new low on the movement at 166 1-8. Their support sent shorts to cover and the stock closed at 170 1-8 up 2 points from the previous close.

Other leading industrials made remarkable advances from their lows. Westinghouse Electric touched 166 3-4, came back to 173 and closed at 172 1-2 off 1-4 for the day. General Electric, American Can, Electric Power, Columbia Gas, American and Foreign Power, American Telephone and Telegraph and Standard of New Jersey made similar recoveries.

General Motors ran third in volume of sales, but it was a feature of first importance. Throughout the selling that attacked the other issues, this stock held firm and when pressure was lifted it easily advanced to 50 where it closed with a net gain of 2 1-2 points for the day.

Motor shares in general were in fair demand and most of them ended the day higher. Wall Street expects better business from this group in the second quarter with a real spurt in the third quarter.

Call money today held at 3 percent. This case together with easier time money and bankers' acceptances brought out greater volume in the bond market where prices were firmer. Bankers, it was said, were preparing for flotation sometime in the first part of June of the $100,000,000 reparations loans and were aiding the bond market.

California was admitted to the union September 9, 1850, having a population of 92,597.

MAKES HIT IN

A girl can never tell these days with whom she is falling in love. Imagine Evelyn Brent's surprise when she discovers the true identity of the suave Englishman, Clive Brook, in "Slightly Scarlet." And her surprise isn't one tenth of what yours will be when you see this thrilling romance sense its gripping drama, at the Fox-California theater during its two day run. It opened last night and ends today.

Evelyn Brent as never more alluringly attractive, more gorgeously gowned than she is in "Slightly Scarlet." Nor was the handsome Brook ever more charmingly whimsical, even in "Charming Sinners," than in this strange melodrama of another charming sinner who looks for high ideals and high station in her men friends and falls in love with—what? That's one of the big surprises in "Slightly Scarlet."

The story is set in a smart society milieu, with sumptuous scenes and delightful people. Yet it is as tensely dramatic as anything Brent and Brook have ever done—even as highly climactic as "Interference," their former joint entertainment. It's action romance, highly spiced with adventure.

Of course you'll remember the detective of "The Canary Murder Case" and "The Green Murder Case." Eugene Pallette furnishes some delicious comedy in "Slightly Scarlet" as the new-rich climber, the foil between the charmer and her deluder. Then Paul Lukas, as suave and smart as ever, is the menace, and Henry Wadsworth the sailor in "Applause," and Morgan Farley, the youthful lieutenant in George Bancroft's "The Mighty." "Slightly Scarlet" is entertainment deluxe—an all-talking delight one of the gems of the season's screen entertainments.

Also on the program is a talking comedy entitled "Desperate Sam."

Vagabond King

DENNIS KING and Jeanette MacDonald in a scene from the "Vagabond King" which will be shown at the Fox California theater tomorrow.

TO BE SHOWN AT FOX

Dennis King, who has been hailed as the talking-singing screen's newest apostle of romanticism, is, above all, a gentleman.

While he was working on the production of "The Vagabond King," at Paramount's Hollywood studio, King was asked to tell his ideal of womanhood.

"First of all," said the famous Broadway musical comedy singer, "she must be a blonde—that is, she must have a blonde personality. Many brunettes have it."

Nothing could have been more typically chivalrous of Dennis King than those words. Blondes and brunettes alike, will find flattery in them.

And it is well that King's opinion is so all-inclusive, for he is going to suit thousands of admirers among the blondes and brunettes before his great picture. "The Vagabond King" is many weeks old. Women just seem to "go for" this dashing, romantic young lyric actor in a great big way.

In "The Vagabond King" Dennis King has a blonde leading lady. She is Jeanette MacDonald, the dazzling charmer of Broadway musical comedy fame, who sang her way into the hearts of film enthusiasts everywhere with her splendid portrayal of the role of Queen Louise in Maurice Chevalier's "The Love Parade."

"The Vagabond King" is based in the opera of the same name which ran for more than a season on Broadway. The original Rudolph Friml songs will be heard again when the picture comes to the Fox California theater for a 2-day run.

Others in support of Dennis King in the picture are Warner Oland, O. P. Heggie and Lillian Roth, and hundreds of extras who were chosen for their roles on the basis of their ability, not alone to act, but also on the basis of their accomplishments as singers.

Also cartoon, "Indian Pudding."

SAN FRANCISCO May 20.—Strict enforcement of the law in respect to boulevard stops is now under way throughout the state as part of the California committee on public safety campaign to reduce the traffic accident toll. The boulevard stop regulation is the subject of the May campaign of the committee in its all-year, continuous movement of education and enforcement.

The California Highway Patrol and police departments of principal cities are cooperating in the campaign. The committee concentrates each month on a specific type of traffic law violation, devoting the first part of each month to acquainting the motoring public with the legal requirements and the latter part of the month to strict enforcement.

Educational activities are carried on through the press, through 24 radio stations broadcasting messages three times each week and a series of five minute radio talks, through hundreds of motion picture theaters displaying a series of traffic safety slogans, and through monthly bulletins prepared and issued by the committee through 472 service clubs and other organizations in all parts of the state. The educational campaign has aimed at making the motoring public "traffic minded."

Through the cooperation of the electric railway companies of the state and motor bus lines, window posters carrying slogans urging safe driving and walking have been kept constantly before the eyes of the public. The slogan being displayed this month is "Stopping at Boulevard Stops Averts Crashes."

The state law requires motorists to bring their vehicles to a complete stop or through street designated by signs. The law on right-of-way at boulevard stops reads: "The driver of any vehicle who has come to a stop as required by law at the entrance to a through highway shall yield to other vehicles within the intersection or approaching so closely from the left as to constitute an immediate hazard; but said driver having so yielded may proceed and other vehicles approaching the intersection from the left or right shall yield to the vehicle so proceeding into or across the through highway."

INGAGI TELLS STORY OF AFRICA

You will be ready to admit Darwin was right when you see the gorillas in "Ingagi" at the Richmond theater May 27, 28 and 29.

No matter what anyone may say or think there is no denying that the actions of the great anthropoids are decidedly man-like and that they do display almost human intelligence. Anatomically they exhibit far closer resemblance to man than any other beast of the wilds. For example the gorilla is the only wild animal with a heel like a human being's.

So, we may conclude, apes are people—after a fashion. We need not quarrel with those who oppose the idea of evolution from monkeys to men. But certainly we can be astonished at the actions of the powerful creatures that dwell in the mountain fastnesses above Lake Kivu in Central Africa.

UPRISING AT FUNERAL OF NATIVE

BOMBAY, India, May 20.—UP—Thousands of Swarajists, or Independence protagonists, formed a procession through the native quarters of Bombay today as a demonstration of Nationalism during the funeral of Vithaldas Chaudhary, a deputy captain of volunteers.

The youth was killed in a railway accident, but during the night a baseless rumor spread that Chaudhary had died of injuries inflicted by the police during the salt raid at Vadala, a suburb of Bombay. The body was carried to the headquarters of the national congress in the native city. The leaders decided to make the death the occasion for a demonstration.

Thousands were in line, marching along in the scorching sun, bareheaded, clad in homespun, smocks and loin cloths, uniformed volunteers in khaki shorts, wearing Nationalist emblems, clearing the swarming streets of buffalo carts, wandering sacred bullocks, cows and goats, amid a great uproar and shouts from all sides.

Silence
The volunteers vainly attempted to enforce silence. They linked their arms, forming cordons, and opened an avenue for the funeral. The procession was headed by a Congress official, bearing a large green, white and red Nationalist flag.

The funeral line, a sea of dark faces against white clothing, walked slowly, chanting monotonous hymns for the dead. They burned incense as they walked.

The white smocks of the marchers were splashed with scarlet powder made from sandalwood, signifying joy and happiness. The powder, customarily is used at funerals and feasts. The marchers continually threw handfuls of it into the procession. All smeared their faces with the red powder, making a weird sight.

Much Excitement
The body followed, tied on bamboo poles and carried on the shoulders of 12 men literally drenched in the scarlet powder. Chaudhary's face, uncovered, was blotched with the red powder.

Great excitement moved along the packed lanes as the body was carried past. Volunteers strove to quiet the din. The crowds showered red flowers in great profusion along the line of march.

The procession lasted several hours, marching miles to the cremation ground.

Senior Class To Hold Party Tuesday

Plans for an informal senior class party on Senior Day next Tuesday at Richmond union high school were laid at yesterday's meeting of the graduates.

The following committees were appointed: Decorations and program, George Degman chairman; Patricia McAndrews, J. A. Vincent, James Carey and Geraldine Cloek; Clean-up, Howard Dalton, Glenn Williams, Paul Maloney and Edward Owens.

Gerald Collins presided at yesterday's meeting of the senior class.

Teaching Of Safety At Schools Urged

SACRAMENTO, May 20.—Governor Young and the state department of public instruction are urged to inaugurate safety teaching in the public schools of California at the next fall term by the California committee on Public Safety. This request came in the form of a formal resolution adopted at the annual convention of the committee held in Oakland.

The resolution called attention to the fact that a bill providing for "compulsory safety education in the public schools of California" was advocated and inaugurated by the California committee on Public Safety and was enacted into a law by the last state legislature, but so far the provisions of the law have not been met.

In a discussion in the convention it developed that although the law had been in effect since last August, the delay was occasioned chiefly by lack of funds to prepare the curriculum for the schools. It is believed, however, that the necessary money can be obtained from the general fund when it is shown that the need is urgent for the safety curriculum to be included in the public schools of the state at the earliest possible moment.

Reports submitted at the convention indicated that in spite of the vast amount of educational work that had been done by the committee during the past year, casualties and fatalities in traffic have continued to increase. But few citations, although much has been done toward making uniform ordinances, installation of signals and safety devices and appealing to motorists to accept individual responsibility in the matter of safety on the public highways.

One report submitted showed that traffic accidents had cost California nearly $70,000,000 last year. The suggestion was made that if only a portion of this vast sum could be utilized in systematic and scientific accident prevention, a saving of at least half of the $70,000,000 annual bill now paid by motorists of California and the public could be made.

Whalen Quits As Head Of N. Y. Police

NEW YORK, May 20.—UP—Grover A. Whalen, New York's most picturesque police commissioner since the days of Theodore Roosevelt resigned today to return to his $100,000 a year job as general manager of the John Wanamaker store.

Mayor Walker accepted the resignation and named as his successor, Assistant Chief Inspector P. Mulrooney, a man of 55 who had served as a patrolman under Roosevelt.

The letter to the mayor in which Whalen resigned, effective tomorrow noon, stated that, after seventeen months on the job, Whalen believed that he had put the police department on its feet, and that his success in office has been largely due to the mayor's cooperation.

Whalen will continue, it is understood, as chairman of the mayor's committee for the reception of distinguished guests.

JUDGE ROBERTS CONFIRMED BY SENATE

WASHINGTON, May 21.—UP—The nomination of Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia, to be associate justice of the supreme court was confirmed today by the senate without a record vote and without debate.

Roberts' confirmation fills the vacancy on the court created by the death of the late Associate Justice Sanford.

There was a marked difference between consideration of Roberts and President Hoover's first nominee, Federal Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, who was refused senate confirmation two weeks ago, chiefly because of opposition to his anti-union "Yellow Dog Contract" decision in the fourth circuit court of appeals.

Nominated within 48 hours of Parker's rejection, Roberts received a unanimous vote of approval from the sub-committee, appointed to investigate the nomination, and also from the full judiciary committee.

A threat of opposition to Roberts because of his views on prohibition did not materialize and no protests were received by the judiciary committee, except a suggestion from the Socialist party that his views on economics and social problems be investigated.

Roberts may be sworn in next Monday or the following Monday, when the court adjourns until October.

The ceremonies which start his $20,000 salary may be deferred until fall if his private business matters require more time to clear up.

Slayer Pleads Guilty To 2nd Degree Charges

NEW YORK, May 20.—UP—"Texas Jim" Baker, confessed "mass murderer" who went in trial for first degree murder in criminal court here yesterday, was allowed to plead guilty to a charge of second degree murder today.

Baker must go to prison for life for the murder two years ago of Henry Gaw, night watchman at the Guggenheim laboratories. The 23-year-old youth, who openly had boasted that he had poisoned ten men in his life, killed Gaw by forcing a lump of cyanide down the watchman's throat.

Eight jurors had been selected for the trial yesterday and the state had proceeded with the intention of asking that Baker die in the electric chair for his crime. When court convened this morning, Baker, conferred briefly with his attorney, James D. C. Murray, Murray then informed the court that Baker was willing to plead guilty to second degree murder. The prosecution accepted the plea.

The young killer was remanded to prison until Friday, on which day he will be sentenced.

Zep Passes Canary Isles

FREIDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, May 21.—UP—The Graf Zeppelin radioed at 4:15 a. m. today—(10:15 EST Tuesday)—that it had passed the last of the Canary Islands.

The dirigible was making very smooth headway, it was added.

LAS PALMAS, Canary Islands, May 21.—UP—The Graf Zeppelin proceeding smoothly in good weather on the phase of its cruise to Rio de Janeiro and the United States, was crossing the Canaries early today, well along on its 3,500 mile path to Pernambuco, Brazil.

A message picked up by the Land's End radio station, Eusland, from Cadiz, Spain, reported that at 12:15 a. m. Las Palmas time, the Zeppelin was then flying over the Canary group.

The dirigible had earlier radioed Las Palmas that it expected to be over the islands soon.

Wessling Suit Started In San Francisco

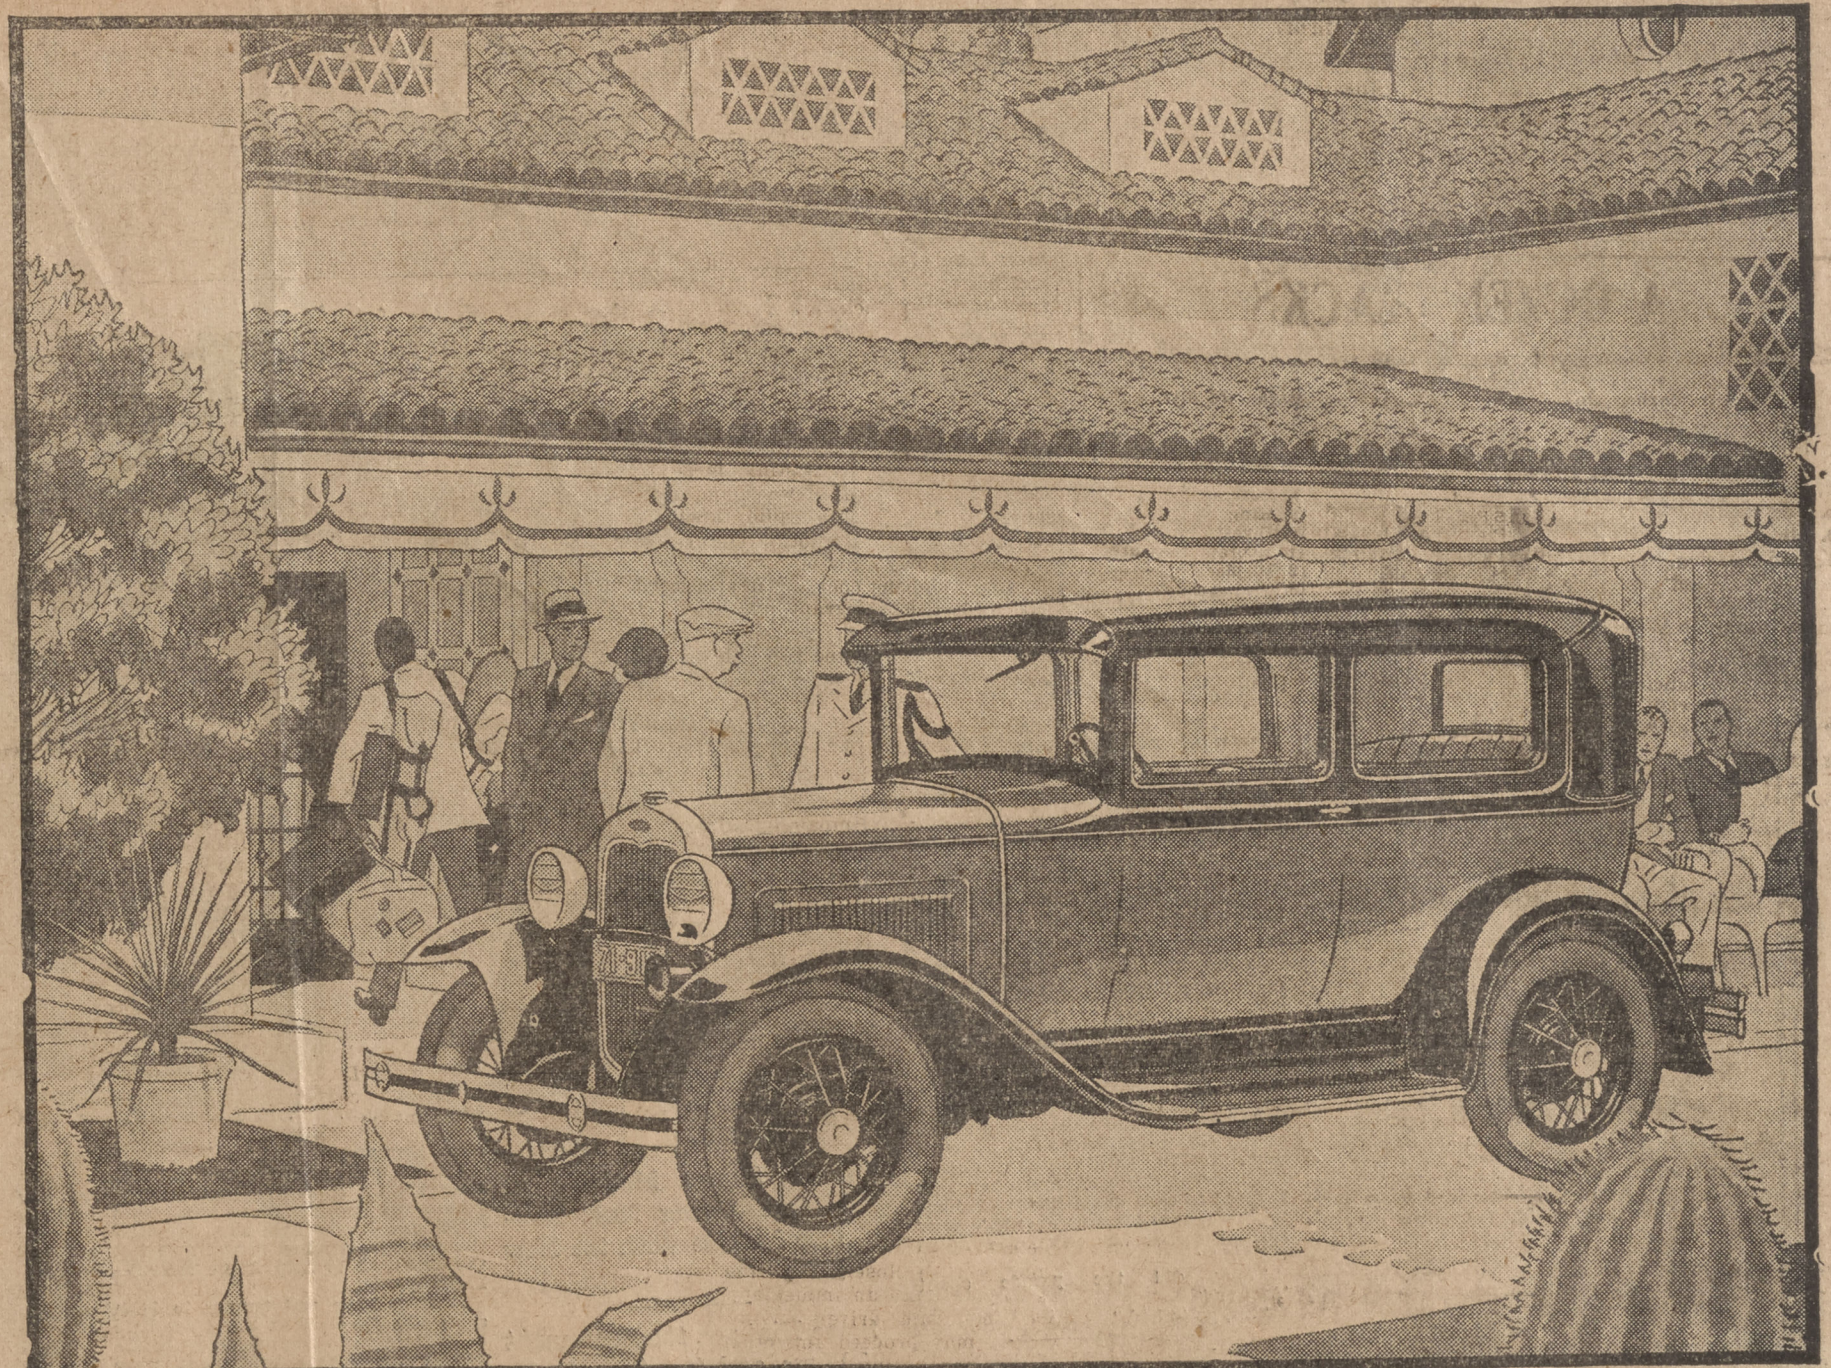

For the fourth time the trial of Mrs. Julia Wessling and her son, Albert, for damages for the death of Rev. Lester Wessling at the Barrett avenue crossing in Richmond, July 1, 1926, has started in San Francisco superior court. The suit names the Southern Pacific company as the defendant, and originally asked $50,000 for the death of Rev. Wessling and $500 for injuries sustained by Albert in the same accident.

The jury disagreed at the first trial, and in the second, a verdict of $18,000 for the death of Rev. Wessling and $1,30 for his son's injuries was awarded. The Southern Pacific company was awarded a plea for a new trial, and the jury disagreed on damages for the death, but awarded Albert Wessling $2,500. A new trial motion was once more granted.

TELLING THE WORLD

(Every free born American is entitled to a career by mail. What is the use of going to college when the postman can bring it right up to your front door? Remember, Abraham Lincoln did not go to college. He studied by candlelight and grew up to be President. Your chances are better than his. You can study by gas or electric light. Our series of home lessons, published earlier in the year, scored an unparalleled success. Hundreds have written in to say they are grateful there is no other course like it in the world. To-day we offer our advanced curriculum in trades and professions which can be taught by mail. There is no coupon to clip, so you don't even have to have a scissors to start. Enroll now!)

OPPORTUNITY NO. 1. Be a saxophone player and charm your neighbors. We teach you how to finger this instrument of torture by mail, freight or express. There is a big demand for saxophone players everywhere. Theatrical managers want them. The police want them. Landlords are offering $50 per dozen scalps.

Jesse James was our first pupil to take up stage work. In 1000 performances he cleaned up $624,000 and 8,445 watches. He literally knocked them off the shelves with his nickel-plated instrument. You can do the same. Plenty of good territory still open.

Our mail course teaches how to imitate a tophorn, a laughing hyena or a broken flivver calling to its mate. Also correct instructions for grooving an encore when there is no demand. Enroll in our course and fascinate the tenants in your block. You will never live to regret it. THE TAKEM-WE-CHIEF CO., Leavenworth, Kan.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 2.—Become a sleuth. Who doesn't want to be a detective? Write us to-day. Our faculty, as ex-cit chairs—no waiting. Picking through keyholes is the most fascinating work there is. Bar none. Imagine wearing false whiskers, busting down doors and getting paid for it! We teach all the recognized forms of ex-cit-picking. How to drop an eye on a co-responder, on a fugitive, on a justice, etc. Nick Carter, Benedict Arnold and Sherlock Holmes are among our satisfied customers. Send $1 now for tin badge, EXCELLENT SHADOWING AND FRAMING COMPANY.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 3.—Movie acting taught by correspondence. This is not a second-rate school. We teach our pupils by first-class mail. Twelve beautiful assorted packets of information sent postpaid on receipt of your savings. How to register fear, hate and flannel underwear. If you have beauty we teach you how to develop it. If you have brains, we teach you to get into some other line. Our graduates are superiors in all the super-pictures. APPLEBAUM ACTING CO., Hollywood, Cal.

OPPORTUNITY NO. 4.—It is easy to become a traveling salesman by our method. Indorsed by Burton Holmes, the Prince of Wales and other representative traveling men. Drummers have an easy life. All they do is ride and take orders. Some of them only ride.

Our first lesson, based on Congressional data, tells you how to travel for 20 cents a mile. Valuable instructions on how to guess a Pullman porter's name is George; how to talk prohibition in smoking compartments; what to do in case of nightmare in an upper berth, and other intricate details a traveling salesman should know.

Half the people you see on the road are our graduates. The other half are only pedestrians. Six lessons from us and you can sell petticoats to a debutante. Don't delay writing for our course at once as the postal authorities are liable to arrive any minute now. THE GLUTZ INSTRUCTION COMPANY, New York.

Finishing the Neckline

By Clarissa Moore

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

For Good-Looking Necklines

FOR so long Fashion confined herself to the boat-shape neck, or the "perfect round," that it is a pure joy to be able to give it the cold shoulder at last. And yet that same "boat-neck" was and still is an excellent line for a great many and the best one for some. In which latter case it would be folly to depart from it, even for variety's sake.

But suppose we learn first how to cut and finish necklines in general. It is tremendously important that they be done well. I know that some remark has occurred frequently in this series, but unless the neckline is covered, the slightest deviation from perfection in cut and finish shows up glaringly. Necklines, as you know if you stop to think of it, are, after all, of but two classes—collarless and collared, and the collar may be applied as an extra, an accessory, or made with the garment as an integral part of it.

Cutting and shaping the neckline calls for the same procedure in either case, so then, once it has been decided whether a U-shaped or a V-shaped neck, a round, square or bateau is desired, slip on the blouse or dress, sit or stand before the mirror and mark the outline with pins, one pin following another closely. It is wise to make this outline considerably closer to the neck than it is intended to be when finished.

Cut along the line of pins carefully, starting at the centre-front, cutting to the centre-back. Fold this section over to the other side and cut along the lower edge to make sure that the two sides are cut alike. Even then it is desirable to try the garment on again and to snip away a bit here and there where the outline still happens to be irregular. Now for the finish. Bias bindings are the best because they shape readily to the curve and these have already been discussed in a previous article. They are cut from the material on a true bias, while they may be put on by hand, machine stitching is far preferable unless the material is very loosely woven.

Place the right side of the binding flat on the right side of the material and, with their edges even all along the way, baste rather less than a quarter of an inch in, using fine stitches. Press the seam open, take out the basting threads and stitch evenly. If it is necessary to piece the binding, start at a point where the joint-seam does not come on a curve, or if the neck is square at a corner.

If it is a nuisance to have to do this piecing, but frequently it is necessary, especially in making over. Also turning corners in the binding process has its difficulties. At any rate, it requires care. The point is, in turning a corner in a square neck or in turning the point in a V-shaped one, to avoid having any extra ful-

"DAD, where's the Amen Corner?"

"Well, Son, in the old days, when people were more enthusiastic about their religion than they are now, the more pious members of the flock used to encourage the minister with cries of 'Amen.' These members generally sat well up front in a little group by themselves, so that part of the church came to be known as the 'Amen Corner.'"

"I see, Sonny Boy, that your Dad is not an authority on church history. The real 'Amen Corner' is in London. It is at the corner of Cheapside Street and Ave Maria Lane. Many years ago, before the Reformation, in England, on Corpus Christi Day, the priests and people formed a procession at the end of Cheapside Street and marched up the full length of the street chanting the 'Pater Noster,' and when they stopped to turn down Ave Maria Lane it was always time to chant, 'Amen,' so that corner was called the 'Amen Corner.'"

"Why did the parade chant 'Amen'?"

"Oh, go to bed."

Cleaning gas stove burners with kerosene or gasoline may effectively remove the grease, but it is dangerous and, anyway, boiling the burners in water containing washing soda will clean them just as well and you are taking no chances on a conflagration.

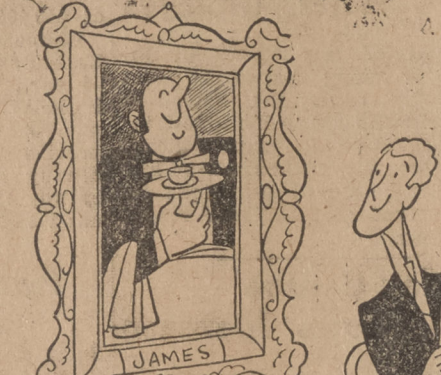

An occasional slight oiling (using one part linsed oil to three parts turpentine) will do much to keep the varnished floor in good condition and make it last longer.

The Beauty Shop

By Frances Olivier

If You Can't Be Beautiful Be Dainty

VERY few people can distinguish the difference, really. Men, particularly, get daintiness all mixed up with beauty. They see a woman with radiant, exquisite skin and shining, beautifully groomed hair and immaculate, gleaming teeth and spotless clothes—and a lovely aroma—and they call her beautiful.

In a sense they are perfectly right too. Exquisite skin, fastidiousness, faultless grooming—and a lovely aroma—these things are beautiful, aren't they?

And one of the very nicest things about this sort of beauty is that it is so easily achieved. Whereas the perfect nose is given to the few, daintiness is to be had by any one who will work for it.

In its essence it is cleanliness. Absolute cleanliness within and without. Within, through the efficient functioning of the organs of elimination, and without, through frequent bathing and regular shampooing and laundering, the generous use of bath salts, body powder, deodorants, toilet water and so forth.

The old-type Continental trains are notoriously sooty, yet you will see women of France, Germany and Italy step from a day's journey on such trains looking as fresh as flowers. Second class travelers too!

Watch these women en route—the men, too, many of them—and you will see that their luggage, no matter how meagre, always includes a bottle of eau de cologne or some such refreshing toilet water as lavender or violet. The face and neck are gone over periodically during the course of the journey with a handkerchief moistened with the lotion.

No wonder these faces emerge cool, rested, immaculate. The dirty train problem is rather rare in our country, but the sooty city we still suffer from, "we" meaning our skins and hair and clothes. Business people especially must exercise eternal vigilance if they wish to be well-groomed consistently.

In fact, we think no office desk is quite complete unless there is tucked away in some inconspicuous but convenient corner of it a cleansing cream or lotion and a good supply of cleansing tissue.

The appeal of beauty is not to the eye alone, and most men when given a choice between an everyday girl who is fastidious and a siren whose grooming is open to question will show but little if any hesitancy. There is something delightfully tonic about daintiness. Something young about it. So, if you can't be beautiful—be dainty! Be dainty anyway!

Some Hints on the Permanent Wave and the Care to Be Exercised in Its Keeping

By Pierre

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

NEW fashions are appearing in hairdressing. Bobs are giving way to feminine curls and alluring waves. But waves must be soft and widely spaced with the ends tucked into natural-looking curls in some becoming arrangement at the back of the head. The cramped, monotonous permanent or the same type of Marcel seen on four out of five heads during the rage of the bob is altogether passe.

There are a few tricks to learn and then simple care will preserve the permanent wave. New hats have called for longer hair and naturally the wave lines must be readjusted if the locks are to help frame the millinery picture.

It saves time and temper to form some definite decision about the style of coiffure one wishes to adopt before having the spring permanent wave put in.

A new way of parting the hair will allow those whose hair inclines to lie too flatly on top. A part leading from the crown of the head to the temple is effective if the head is long and narrow.

The semi-bob may be worn loose, in a rolled curl at the back of the neck, in a tiny knot, or crossed at the nape of the neck. In general the knot and curl are suitable for tail, slender women. Loose hair is attractive for the young slim woman, while crossed bands of hair look well when the figure is short and plump. The hair in the latter instance should be kept flattened at the back so that the line of the neck is clear. And even a tiny transformation pinned on during the growing stage is a useful device.

When the new wave conforms to the adopted style of hair-dress preserving a beautiful coiffure is simplified.

With innumerable methods of permanent waving, it is only justice to your hair to safeguard it by investigating the machine itself, the drying solution and the method of winding the strands. The fold over and over in the croquignole manner instead of the twist around and around in cork-screw fashion gives the most successful and safe wave—flat and soft without a kink.

A good wave is a perfect one and an investment in chic as well as comfort that pays no uncertain dividends.

It is a common belief that brushing the hair is ruinous to the artificial wave. This is a fallacy. Stimulation of the scalp with a brush is necessary (a comb will not do) to offset the injury through tightness when a small close hat is worn. Brushing also lifts the hair and softens the curls.

A twice monthly cleansing shampoo means pure liquid soap without rinsing in waters containing lemon, vinegar or borax, which are harmful both to the texture and color of the hair. Clear water is best. Simple henna or camomile rinses intensify the color if that is to be desired, and both have a tonic effect. Only brunettes should use henna while those with light locks should use camomile.

After the shampoo the fingers may be used to set the waves and hairpins employed to hold them in place. Any device which clamps the hair close to the head prevents the wave from coming up lightly and naturally.

When a vigorous brushing has been given the hair between shampoos wet the hair a little and pass it through the waves. They will curl up at once and can be held by a few small hairpins until the hair is completely dry.

Flip of Coin

The mass of soldiers and officers at the front in 1918 had no inkling how nearby disaster hovered. And fortunately so. For if a tenth part of the truth had leaked out the morale of the Allied armies would have snapped like a dry twig. It now becomes clear from the posthumously published writings of Clemenceau that Gen. Petain, Generalissimo of the French forces, had definitely given up hope of victory, worse even, that he believed the Allied armies were doomed. "At Doullens," wrote Clemenceau, "I took what I found. On the other hand, there was Petain, who said frankly that in his estimation we were cooked. On the other hand, there was Foch, who went around like a fool ('fool'—the word figures in the title the French gave to Lindbergh: 'Flying Fool'—four volant—and which does not mean imbecile). Foch wanted to fight. I said to myself, 'Let's try Foch. At least we'll die rifle in hand. I passed by the calm, thoughtful man, who is Petain. And I took the fool, who was Foch.' . . . That 'fool' had already lost the Battle of the Somme. But Clemenceau took his chance. That's the way they made war. The greatest decision of the entire conflict, that of appointing a Commander in Chief of the Allied forces, for that is what Clemenceau was talking about, was determined by a flip of the coin, so to speak. On that the war was won also.

Agadir Incident

The announcement that the port of Agadir, in Morocco, has been opened for traffic recalls an international incident that took place about nineteen years ago. Few people had ever heard of the place when, on July 1, 1911, the German Ambassador at Paris told the French Government that a German warship, the Panther, had been sent there. The action was a diplomatic bombshell. The reason given for it was that German business houses established in Southern Morocco were alarmed by the growing agitation of the native tribes and needed protection. Everybody, however, took the action of Germany as a challenge to the spread of French influence in Morocco. Four months of exciting negotiations were necessary before the incident was settled, and the tiny village with the big harbor slipped back into oblivion. Agadir has the finest natural harbor on the coast of Morocco. The region surrounding it has always been a centre of mischief, and a Sultan of Morocco in 1764 punished the inhabitants by closing the port altogether, and creating the port of Mogador, further north. Since the war no European or other foreigner has been allowed to settle in the district, or even to visit it. The sole apparent exception has been the remarkable one of a native who went to the United States as a performer of juggling tricks, became an American citizen, and went back to visit his old mother. In preparation for the needs of a business community all the plans have been laid for a European city, and work on some buildings has begun.

Paris Guide

Coming upon an old guide book for Paris in one of the little stalls along the Seine quays the other day we stopped long enough to glean the following exclamation from George Sand on the "terrors of traffic" in those days. "Oh, how dangerous it is," she wrote, "to venture into that seething whirlpool of the Paris boulevards. How can a human being summon the courage to cross? It is like a battle in which every man must think and act for himself. The tempo is terrific. Huge omnibuses clatter and rattle along. Swift fiacres cut in when least expected. Horses prance, stamp and snort. One's head swims in this maelstrom! . . . It roars and rushes in all directions!" In all directions, then as now! The old guide book was composed when Karl Baedeker had not yet begun to publish, and so it appears, a group of prominent writers of the era had combined to describe Paris, its grandeur, historic sites, cafes, the streets and human types. George Sand took care of the traffic subject. Jules Favre contributed a piece on "The Rhythm" of Paris. Daumier, Rosa Bonheur, Henri Monnier took care of the illustrations. Alphonse Daudet said a word on prisons. He devotes ten pages to the Bastille, which, to be sure, didn't exist more in 1867 than it does now. But then that's the way of guide books. After Mme. George Sand comes a delightful poem on the glory of springtime in Paris, appropriately enough by De Musset. A note in the back of the book says Paris had thirty buses at that time. Copyright, 1930

CONGRESS WILL ADJOURN ON JUNE 10

WASHINGTON, May 20.—UP—Congressional leaders today planned to adjourn the first regular session of the seventy-first congress June 10 or 14, passing the tariff bill but probably leaving the London naval treaty high and dry.

President Hoover's other favorite project, the Hoover-Wickersham prohibition program, also would be left hanging except for the prohibition transfer bill.

Senate Republican Leader Watson said today he favored this adjournment date and leaving the naval treaty to be acted upon at the short session starting in December and ending next March 4.

Democrats and their independent Republican anti-tariff allies left little doubt that they intended to point accusing fingers at what they call the "robber tariff." But indications are they lack the votes to defeat it, and obstructionist tactics are unlikely.

The tariff opposition will seek to lay the blame on the Republican party and the White House. Then the bill will be passed and go to President Hoover for signature or veto. A veto is not believed likely.

Speaker Longworth said today he expected congress could adjourn on or before the middle of June. He said the house has completed action on the tariff bill with the exception of the few items on which the senate and house conferees disagreed. Now that the senate has voted to allow its negotiations to recede on the two most important items, agreement will be reached swiftly, probably this week, on the others.

The proposal to ditch the treaty for the summer may meet some opposition, but the urge of the political home-fires is likely to overcome that.

Girl Charges Against Eddie Mack Dropped

LOS ANGELES, May 20.—UP—When a 17-year old girl, whose parents brought statutory charges against Eddie Mack, refused to make any statement against the Denver contender for the world's lightweight boxing title, plans to return him here from Colorado were dropped by the district attorney's office today.

Mack was accused of having been familiar with the girl, Mar-LaFosse, on three occasions. He surrendered to Denver authorities last week on a fugitive warrant. While no effort to extradite him will be made, he will be prosecuted on a felony count if he enters California jurisdiction, deputy district attorney Dan Beecher said.

California's Japanese population increased from 148, in 1880 to more than 100,000 in 1920.

general staff there, they did not have graduates.

"Have you ever commanded the fleet?"

"No sir, but I am assigned to do so soon."

"Have you ever been to sea in an 8-inch gun cruiser?"

"No sir."

Questions Asked.

"Have you ever seen an 8-inch gun cruiser at target practice? Do you know the thickness of their turret armor—of their deck armor? How are their barbettes armed?"

The questions were coming too fast to answer because Chase then sought to confer with his aide for the technical material. As he began to answer the last question, Reed interrupted.

"Do they have barbettes?"

"No sir," Chase replied, "I can get all this information for you, Mr. Senator."

"I have it," Reed shot back, "and I wondered if you had it. How fast can the new eights be fired?"

Chase said they were new and he did not know.

"You merely are repeating the witnesses' replies," Johnson said to Reed.

Waste of Time

"That would be a waste of time," Reed replied.

"You, of all persons around this table should not have said that," Johnson shot back. "You sit here as judge, advocate and jury on this treaty, and you ought to be infinitely fair."

"I will attempt to adopt the senator's unprejudiced attitude," Reed replied, referring to Johnson's vigorous opposition to the treaty.

Officers Called

"You will be better off, if you do," said Johnson.

As tempers cooled, Chairman Borah called an executive session. He said afterward, he would call only one more witness, Admiral Reeves, but Johnson said he had several more officers to be heard.

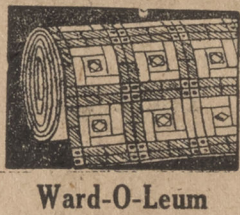

Five naval officers appeared before the foreign relations and naval affairs committee today. All object to the treaty. Both committees will continue tomorrow.

Physiology Class To Hold Meeting

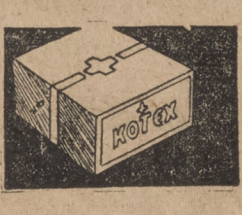

A meeting of the Girls Physiology class of the Richmond Union High school will be held tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock with Gertrude Parker in charge. Miss Helen Cunningham is in charge of the banquet committee.
